Short summary of the „Let's go to the European Greenway”
– multilateral youth exchange in Hungary

Duration of the exchange activity: 4 July-17. July 2011. (14 days)

Veneu: Hungary / South Transdanubien Region / Ormánság area / Kémes ECOcamp

Participants in the project:

-From 9 european countries (HU, DE, FR, PL, GR, LV, AUT, TR, HR),

-1 leader + 5 participants / group, age between 18-25 years, english language knowledge, interest in the topic. (Leaders can be older than 25!)

Topic of the project:

Draw attention to the importance of volunteering as an element of the global enviromental challenges and climate change in rural areas in Europe.

Goal of the project:

- to enhance the European identity through experience exchange of the participants in the topic
- to promote enviromental friendly and sustainable thinking locally and globally (Think global, act local!)
- to discuss about personal and public responsibility in sustainable consumerism and tourism
- Call attention to the global environmental challenges and climate change through the Ormáns Greenway and it's natural resources.
- Call attention to the European Greenway movement as a tool of conservation environmental and historical values and community development.
- to promote the importance of volunteering in rural areas with closed connection with the Hungarian EU Presidency priorities in 2011 and focus on roma strategy
- to enhance of importance of YER network

Planned activities:

- Create an Ormánság Greenway creative living-board game from waist with recycling method – questions, exercises about the Ormánság.
- Discover the Ormánság area and create a map about the Ormánság Greenway with the help of the local youth volunteers. Put signboards on the road to help the tourist to discover the Ormánság.
- Create a film about the importance of volunteering as an element of the global environmental challenges

Methods:

global education, in non-formal education, learning by filming, experience pedagogy through recycling workshops, non-formal education, outdoor activities

Preparation: advance planning visit in Kémes in Hungary in 1-3. June 2011.
